Immersionplus German [With Listening Guide] (German Edition)

Synopsis

A dynamic, conversational foreign language immersion series! The ImmersionPlus series has been created especially for the intermediate to advanced foreign language students who want to improve their foreign language comprehension. The audio, recorded by a native speaker, is first heard at a normal spoken pace, then slower, followed by a repeat of the first to rapidly improve comprehension.

Customer Reviews

Lessons in order of increasing difficulty.

I am so glad there is an Immersion German set of CD's. I have the French, and am surprised how much more I understand each time I listen. I am just starting a review of German, and am glad I will have these to measure my progress.

This product is useful for intermediate or better listeners to use for listening practice in the car. I bring it out every year or so and listen like I would a book on tape. Good listening practice refresher. I also have the Spanish version. The vignettes are pretty much the same; they change some names and minor details. With both you can compare languages i.e. How is this expressed in German vs. Spanish?

I've been living in Munich for about 2 1/2 years now. This audiobook has been a great help in improving my German. The conversations are interesting, covering a range of topics, and the speakers are clear, fluid and easy to understand. I particularly like the accompanying book of where I can follow the conversation in German and/or look at an English translation. On the downside, there aren't as many conversations as there could be, and the translations have a few annoying mistakes. I also don't know that it's necessary to repeat the same conversation 3 times. Instead, it would have been better to include an additional conversation or two and have the participants speak once at normal speed and once at slow speed. Despite these minor flaws, I found the CDs well worth the money and quite useful.

Okay, I just got back from Germany. This course is for people who have a good grasp of basic grammar & vocabulary and want to improve listening comprehension...but it ALSO give some colloquialisms that I heard several times on the trip ("Mist!" when you stub your toe, "parkplatz" for parking place, etc.). I felt much better prepared and was able to handle simple conversations using the syntax and some additional vocabulary that the grammarians don't use.
