Customer Reviews

Love this book. Started one for each of my kids. I have their teachers sign them with a little message at the end of the year. Don't worry if your kid is in a later grade, it's never too late to start doing it. If your child is a senior, see if the principal, school councilor, his/her teachers, and family will leave an encouraging and uplifting note.

We got 2 of these for our son and daughter's teachers to sign as they grow up (to give them when they graduate). We're also writing letters to put within the pages over the years. The books are of great quality and should stand the test of time. I've also seen them used as 'advice books' where guests at graduation parties write little bits of advice for the graduates.

This has always been one of my favorite Dr. Seuss books. This purchase was 4 books for my 4 youngest grandkids. We've read the book together before and they've enjoyed it. This is a good quality hardcover book with the typical Dr. Seuss people and drawings. It's a very quick read and keeps the kids' attention.

Keeping this as a souvenir memorabilia for the people who have worked with my son to gift to him when he's older. Just got this idea from the internet. The book is hard cover and the print is just heartwarming, serves the purpose I bought it for. There are enough spaces to scribble and write a dedication.

I am a teacher and I got this idea from one of my students' parents: I bought a copy for my son and had all of his teachers/therapists/aides write something inspirational in it for him. I will repeat this until he graduates high school and present it to him. Not to mention a great gift for someone who just found out they are expecting!

I bought this as a graduation gift for my son. I have had everyone in his Elementary school sign it, from his kindergarten teacher, to his 5th grade, plus the staff. He will be moving on to middle school soon. It will move him to see how fondly he will be remembered and how many people cared for him.

This is one of my favorite kid books. I purchased this for my 5 year old who just finished with Kindergarten. I had her teacher sign it and put a little note inside the book so that when she graduates high school she will know of all her accomplishments while in school. I love this idea and will try my best to complete it for her.

We bought two of this classic book, one for each of my school-aged children. The purpose is to have their school teachers write an affirmation or note to them that they will then get upon graduation. This hardback version with dust cover is going to be quite the keepsake.
