Senegal (Bradt Travel Guides)

Synopsis

Like the whole of West Africa in microcosm, Senegal boasts a variety of landscapes and cultures that belie its compact size. Northern desert wilds give way to the rain-soaked Casamance, fringed by hundreds of kilometres of pristine beaches and the fantastically frenetic capital city, Dakar, surrounded by ocean and proudly perched at the westernmost point on the African continent. This smorgasbord of landscapes is all accessible within a day's travel, making Senegal the perfect choice for anyone looking to sink their teeth into West Africa, for the first time or the hundredth.

Customer Reviews

Provided some good places to eat in Dakar

Very good condition and very informative

rec'd as expected

One would think that after living in Senegal for a cumulative seven years, we'd have a pretty good idea of what's fun to do and how to go about doing it. Yes. One would. But they might be just the teensiest bit mistaken. The more we learn and experience, the more we realize there's a lot more to learn and experience! Flipping through the newly published Bradt Travel Guide for Senegal, we both came to the same conclusion: we gotta do more of this stuff. And armed with this comprehensive and handy little guide, we just might. 5 things I learned, thanks to this guidebook:- how to cross the borders into our five neighboring countries and what to expect at each one- things to be aware of when traveling during Ramadan (brilliant topic!)- the scoop on the most popular dailies and weeklies in Senegal, as well as glossy fashion mags to look for- how to travel in a way that stimulates and develops local economy and also a great list of charities open to short-term international volunteers

I was able to meet Sean while he was in Senegal and I can effectively say no one has done as thorough of a job as he has. This book will take aid you in experiencing Senegal unlike any thing else, short of spending years in Senegal yourself. Wonderful photography, excellent recommendations, phenomenal read overall.
