It was just after the unification of North and South Yemen, also just before the 1994 Yemen Civil War. Moreover, it was the period in which whole Yemen was opened to foreign tourists for the first time in their history. Naive local people were still living peacefully and quietly in harsh environment. It was good old and calm days of Yemen. The way of life of South Yemen people is quite unique also, for instance their peculiar collective tall buildings made of stones and mud in Shibam, Wadi Hadramout are called 'the world oldest skyscraper' but they are not ruins, people are still living there even now. This book contains 388 photographs.
