More than half of the telephone calls Hollyanna McCollom receives are from friends, family, and colleagues asking her for advice about Portland. The questions vary—she's heard everything from "My mom is in town, where should I take her to dinner?" to "What's the best strip club in town?" So far, she hasn't once been stumped. A native Oregonian, Hollyanna spent two years as the editor-in-chief of PDX Magazine, a "where to go, what to do" publication for the city of Portland, before leaving to pursue a career as a freelance writer and full-time advocate for the city. Mother of two rambunctious, sword-obsessed boys, Hollyanna is a part-time poet and part-time pirate who lives in northeast Portland and spends her free time shopping in thrift stores and singing terrible karaoke punk songs.

MOON PORTLAND is a great book about Portland, Oregon, and its environs. It tells you all you need to know about the city, from where the best Asian food is to the top shopping areas, where the best activities for kids are, and even which radio stations are willing to give music by average-looking people a fair break. One radio station listing (KUFO 101.1) is outdated, but that doesn't make this book any less wonderful. Buy it in any format you can get it in, and if you can, get both the paperback AND Kindle editions.

This is an excellent resource on Portland! A must have for any Portlander or anyone visiting the city. Well written and well organized!
